

ONLINE SAFETY

Online Safety Day!

Online safety day is important to remember because you have to listen to the rules of online safety. There are many reasons to follow these rules so you don't get hacked.

5 facts about online safety!

- To be safe online be sure to NEVER tell your password to strangers. If you do, then you can be hacked by random strangers you have never even met.
- Don't talk to people you do not know. If you talk to people you don't know and tell them your information then they can come to your house and find you.
- Always be aware that if someone walks up to you and says that they are your friend that they could NOT be, so always tell a grown-up when that happens
- Don't click random links because they can take you to dodgy apps and websites you have never seen, and steal your information
- Always be alert for scams. Scams can steal your money if you try to buy something, for example somebody could be selling an Iphone for £60 but somebody else could be selling the same one for £20 and if you bought the £20 Iphone you would probably get scammed because it's too good to be true
